ABOUT THE BOOK

Art for the birds.
Art for the ants.
Art for the dogs, cats and raccoons.
Art to make them laugh, make them think, make them feel at home.
But who is creating it?
Only Anonymouse knows for sure . . .

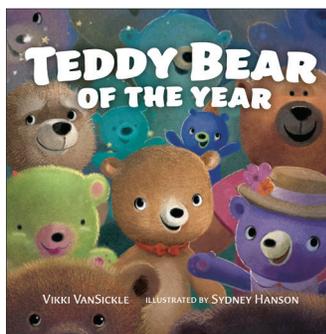

This clever tale mixes street art, animals and gorgeous illustrations to create a meditation on how art can uplift any creature's spirit—human or animal—when it speaks directly to them. Every page of Anna Pirolli's stunning artwork is its own masterpiece with its bold pops of color and sly humor, elevating Vikki VanSickle's subtle but evocative text.

KEEP THE CONVERSATION GOING

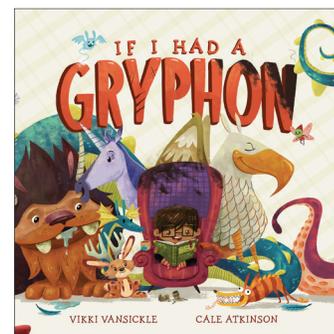

Here are some ideas, activities and questions to consider after you've read the book:

- Using sidewalk chalk, leave a secret message or picture for other people in your neighborhood to discover.
- Go for a walk and take photos of anything that captures your interest, then make a photo album when you get home.
- Next time you go for a walk, can you . . .
 - find a garden or lawn statue?
 - find something that is red?
 - write down an interesting street name and use it in a story?
 - look for evidence of animals in your neighborhood?
- Do you think the art in a museum is different than street art? Why?
